

After listening the arriving data by connection manager, the order of data manager and storage manager is random. One of them will be blocked until the other one unlock the mutex lock.